The bottles are labeled with 3 isotopes, whose concentrations are determined along with the respective laboratory code or schedule number. No treatment, preservation, or special shipping is required. Sample Preparation and Time Requirements Sample preparation involves logging in samples to the LIMS-LSI. The logging-in procedure involves logging samples in batches to LIMS-LSI that could contain from 1 to 100 samples per batch (also called a project), printing labels for each sample, and printing a summary project report. Each sample label contains the Field ID (the identifier by which the sample submitter knows each sample) and the unique RSIL Lab ID assigned by the LIMS-LSI. This information is e-mailed to the submitter of the samples for identification of any errors and subsequently e-mailed to the NWQL. Copies of the ASR forms are mailed to the NWQL. Step-by-step procedures are given in Appendix A. A sample work-order sheet is created by LIMS-LSI by printing a Template and a Samples-to-Be Analyzed form; step-by-step procedures are given in Appendix B. The time requirement for this preparation is about 1 to 5 days. Performing the Analysis...
