From that moment on, throughout her life, she never forgot how she felt. A holy moment was hers, as she and her friend approached a small chapel. She heard the nuns singing like angels. She knew she was in the presence of God. Patsy Frost Rankin has traveled many roads in her life. Twists and turns shaped her character as she learned from each one. Perhaps all of her experiences gave her strength beyond the norm. She was born during the Depression, and she experienced situations of a humbling nature. She has persevered and tread on in hardships. Teaching was Patsys career. She enjoyed motivating children in elementary school, and her goal was to spread positive thinking to all she came to know.
